

“We were sending business email using disparate addresses that had no relevance to our brand. Eventually, we figured out that our message was being diluted. Our prospects were not taking us seriously. Ever since we switched to a branded address, our prospects have responded far more favorably to our communications.”

E. Miller, Miller Bridges Partners

ClarifyOffice™ Features:

All Accessible from the Web!

-  Personal Toll-Free Number
-  E-mail, Voice, and Fax Inbox
-  CRM, Contact Manager
-  Calendar & Task Manager
-  Online File Storage
-  Sales & Marketing Automation
-  Online Reporting
-  Replicated Websites

Services Offered:

- Business Communications
- Process Automation
- Relationship Management
- Team Intranet
- Web-based Virtual Office
- End-to-end Sales Systems
- Web Design & Replication
- Strategic Consulting

Give Your Business the Professional Touch

Your brand is everything. It's the essence of your promise to your customers and prospects. It's what gives you the credibility and trust to create more referrals and generate sales. Your email address is a direct reflection of your commitment and every time you communicate, you have a chance to create interest and build loyalty.

Don't Feed Your Prospects' Skepticism

They don't need another reason NOT to do business with you. When you communicate from an address that fails to reinforce your brand, you lose valuable credibility. Your prospect's initial skepticism is further hardened. Their defenses tighten. Your red-hot email letter just got vaporized with a FROM address that reads: AOL, YAHOO, HOTMAIL, or any of the other generic, unbranded, me-too address.

Details Matter

Success is no longer about selling, it's about creating opportunities TO sell. You may succeed wildly in getting your prospect's attention, but if you expect to keep their attention long enough to deliver an articulated sales argument, establishing credibility upfront is paramount. The super stars already have it. Your task is to empower the rank and file with the tools to gain a stronger foothold and sell more.

Your Branded Email Address Speaks Volumes

With your branded business email address powered by Clarify, you and your team get the confidence and positioning needed to compete side-by-side with your stiffest competition. You'll send and receive email using the address you want. Couple that with your logo and custom email template, and you've got everything you need to attract, keep and grow more relationships. PLUS...you get the enhanced tools built right into your ClarifyOffice suite.

Business Class Email Without The Ads

Your ClarifyOffice suite is equipped with a dedicated inbox accessible wherever you are plus HTML editor and advanced features such as spam controls, message rules, template manager, spell check and a host of other features help you maximize your message and get it delivered fast. It's all built into your ClarifyOffice account for one low monthly fee.

Activate your account online at www.clarifynow.com, or call us at: 800-965-1494